

ABSTRACT

The invention provides a network or internet-based system which enables administrators, participants, clients, third parties, and other users to construct and employ customizable and private label pools relating to well known and personal events, preferably, in a world wide web site environment providing private label capabilities to advertisers or other users.